

Current CO2 emissions in London stand at 44 million tonnes. A 'business-as-usual' approach would see emissions rise to 51 million tonnes by 2025. This increase goes against the UK Government's commitment to reduce CO2 emissions by 80% on 1990 levels by 2050. Through Green500, businesses in London have the opportunity to play their part in achieving this challenging target.
